

Badminton England – Safeguarding Training

Safeguarding training for coaches (and other roles within badminton)

UK Coaching Safeguarding and Protecting Children (SPC1)

This course is the industry standard and most recognised of all safeguarding training in sport courses available. It is also readily available with all County Sport Partnerships running regular workshops as part of their coach and club education programmes. It is the recognised standard for Clubmark. It is considered appropriate that this course is revisited by attendees every 3 years in order that the learning is reinforced. All coaches must attend this training in order to validate their Level 2 UKCC qualification.

Cost: The fee for this course can vary according to area and Clubmark status, it usually costs from £40 - £50.

The safeguarding team is happy to work with proactive clubs and counties to set up closed SPC1 courses for badminton personnel.

UK Coaching – Safeguarding and Protecting Children online refresher. * E learning.

This course is only to be used as a refresher to the SPC1 and the workshop must have been attended within the last 3 years to enable the online refresher option to be used. The online option may be used once only, once another 3 years has passed a direct delivered workshop must be attended.

NSPCC online safeguarding training * E learning.

This course is a great introduction to safeguarding and is suitable for anyone who wishes to promote positive behaviour with young people in sport. The course whilst being online takes around 2 hours to complete as it involves watching video clips and giving feedback. It is very thought provoking and easily accessible as it is being offered at £20 a head. Whilst the training is very positive it does not meet any learning outcomes in respect of validating coaching courses or Clubmark, therefore use this as extra learning or for people who do not require a direct delivery style of training. It may be more suitable for people who are in roles that are in less direct contact with young people, for example club chairs, secretaries or umpires.

Badminton England Time to Listen (Clubs)

Badminton England delivered Time to Listen is available for Club Welfare Officers. It builds on the prior learning from SPC1 and so attendance at SPC1 is a pre requisite for attending this course. Feedback for the course is always positive and we know there are a lot of club officers who need this training. We are happy to work with proactive clubs and counties to plan workshops according to identified need. In addition, some County Sport Partnerships are now offering a multi-sport version of Time to Listen for Welfare Officers and we are happy that badminton personnel book onto this new version. More information on Time to Listen is available from our webpages.
